

Formation of Companies in the Isle of Man – Companies Act 2006

By Paul Harvey, 18th December 2019

Why Use the Isle of Man?

Isle of Man companies benefit from a zero rate of tax on trading and investment income. They are also able to register for VAT, and businesses in the Isle of Man are treated by the rest of the EU for VAT purposes as if they are in the UK.

Isle of Man companies are therefore particularly useful for:

- Holding investment portfolios and participations in other companies. This is due to the zero rate of tax on such activities and the lack of withholding taxes on dividend income from such companies.
- Moody's Investment - London 16 November 2019 - the Isle of Man's credit rating is Aa2 negative, the same as the United Kingdom. The negative outlook on the IoM's ratings reflects Moody's view that the UK's sovereign credit trend continues to have a significant impact on the IoM's credit profile, due to the close and material institutional, economic and financial linkages between the two jurisdictions. Moody's noted the IoM's credit strength is the island's very strong public finances. Very high wealth levels provide a significant buffer against shocks, and the IoM has a long track record of strong GDP growth, with very low volatility. Fiscal policies are forward-looking and prudent, exemplified by the large fiscal buffers accumulated over many years.
- Trading within the EU. Due to the zero rate of tax on trading income and the ability to quote an EU accepted VAT number.
- Holding UK commercial property. For VAT purposes the UK and the Isle of Man are treated in the same manner.
- Isle of Man companies wishing to borrow money from banks benefit from being in a well-regulated jurisdiction with a public register of mortgages and other charges.
- The Isle of Man is a signatory to the Paris Convention on Patents and Trademarks, and therefore many intellectual property companies base themselves in the Isle of Man.

The key points above outline some of the most frequent reasons for the use of Isle of Man companies. Please note it is not a definitive list of reasons for using such companies.
