

Setting Up a Company in Malta: A Complete Guide for Business Owners

Malta provides a strategic, stable, and advantageous location. Yet, navigating the process can appear complex.

Establishing EU Presence Through Malta

Expanding a business internationally presents valuable opportunities – but success depends on structure and foresight. Entrepreneurs and business leaders often face challenges in selecting the right corporate structure, navigating unfamiliar legal frameworks, and allocating resources effectively. For those seeking an EU base, Malta provides a strategic, stable, and advantageous location. Yet, navigating the process can appear complex.

At Dixcart Malta, we simplify that journey. Our multidisciplinary team supports clients across all sectors, providing tailored guidance and administrative support to ensure every company is structured correctly, compliant from day one, and positioned to benefit from Malta's robust and business-friendly environment.

Step 1: Company Name Selection

The process begins with choosing a distinctive company name. In line with the procedures of the Malta Business Registry (MBR), the proposed name must be unique, not misleading, and appropriate for public use.

Entities may be incorporated in several forms, including:

- Single Member Private Exempt Company

- Private Limited Liability Company

- Public Limited Liability Company (offer made to offerees exceeds 50 in number)

Step 2: Share Capital Requirements

The required minimum share capital depends on the type of company being incorporated:

- Private Limited Liability Company:
 - Minimum share capital: €1,165

 - Minimum paid-up capital upon incorporation: 20%

- Public Limited Liability Company:
 - Minimum share capital: €46,588

 - Minimum paid-up capital upon incorporation: 25%

Step 3: Appointment of Company Officials and Beneficial Ownership Declaration

Company officials, including directors and a company secretary, must be formally appointed. These individuals carry responsibility for ensuring governance, compliance and the company's ongoing administration.

Additionally, a Beneficial Ownership Declaration must be submitted, confirming the individuals who ultimately exercise control over the company, or benefit from the entity.

Step 4: Registered Office in Malta

Every company registered in Malta is legally required to have a registered office address located within the country. This serves as its official correspondence address for legal and administrative purposes, including communication from Maltese authorities. The registered office must be a physical location (not just a P.O. box) and is typically maintained by a corporate service provider or law firm if the company does not have its own premises in Malta.

Step 5: Drafting the Memorandum and Articles of Association

The Memorandum of Association is a key legal document that outlines the essential details of the company, including:

- The company's objectives
- Registered office address in Malta
- Details of shareholders and directors
- Share capital and associated rights

This document serves as the company's constitution and may be accompanied by the Articles of Association, which together govern the internal structure, regulations, and operations.

Step 6: Registration with the Malta Business Registry

Once documentation is complete and approved by the Malta Business Registry, this is submitted to the Registrar of Companies. Upon approval, a Certificate of Registration is issued, along with a unique company number.

Post-registration, the company gains legal personality and can:

- Enter into contracts
- Own property

- Hold bank accounts
- Engage with credit and financial institutions

If the company is carrying out an economic activity, registration with the VAT department would be required.
