

The Benefits of a Swiss Holding Company

A Swiss holding company primarily exists to own and manage long-term shareholdings in other companies, either within Switzerland or abroad.

By Christine Breitler, 16th May 2025

Why Are Swiss Holding Companies So Popular?

Swiss holding companies are highly regarded for their strategic role in international business. Switzerland's combination of political stability, legal certainty and an attractive tax framework creates a highly supportive environment for investment structures. These advantages make Swiss holding companies a preferred choice for many international investors.

Key Advantages:

1. Stability: Switzerland's political neutrality, strong economy and robust legal system create a secure and predictable environment for business operations and international investments.
1. Attractive Fiscal Environment: The Swiss tax system promotes corporate growth, offering various incentives and reliefs available to qualifying entities, such as those outlined below.
1. Robust Infrastructure: Cities like Geneva and Zug are major centers for commodity trading and provide strong business support services and access to professionals like lawyers, bankers, and corporate advisors, including Dixcart Switzerland.

1. Strategic Location: Situated in the heart of Europe, Switzerland enables real-time communication with key markets in Europe, the US and Asia.
1. Skilled Workforce: Switzerland offers access to a highly educated, multilingual workforce, ideal to support seamless international operations.

Understanding the Role of a Swiss Holding Company

A Swiss holding company primarily exists to own and manage long-term shareholdings in other companies, either within Switzerland or abroad.

Key benefits include:

Tax Efficiency

- Participation Exemption: Swiss holding companies benefit from a participation exemption, which reduces or eliminates corporate income tax on qualifying dividends and capital gains. To qualify, the company must hold at least 10% of the subsidiary's equity or a participation with a market value exceeding CHF 1 million, for at least one year.
- Interest Payments: Interest paid on loans from foreign shareholders may not be subject to Swiss withholding tax, subject to structuring.
- Extensive Double Tax Treaty Network: Switzerland has an extensive network of taxation treaties with over 100 countries, preventing double taxation and reducing withholding taxes on cross-border dividends, interest, and royalties. Under the EU-Switzerland Savings Tax Agreement, dividend distributions to EU parent companies may be exempt from Swiss withholding tax, provided the parent company holds at least 25% of the subsidiary for a minimum of two years.

Asset Protection and Wealth Management

Swiss holding companies play an important role in safeguarding assets and facilitating efficient transfer of wealth. They also benefit from access to Switzerland's world-class private banking and investment services.

Flexible Corporate Structures

Swiss law allows for flexible corporate structures, accommodating various business needs. Holding companies can be established with minimal administrative requirements, and foreign investors can fully own Swiss companies, making it an accessible option for international clients.

Conclusion

Swiss holding companies offer a rare combination of tax advantages, political and economic stability, strategic location, and access to world-class financial services. These factors make them a preferred choice for businesses and individuals seeking a reliable and efficient structure for international investments management.

Additional Information

If you would like additional information regarding Swiss Holding Companies, please contact Christine Breitler at the Dixcart office in Switzerland:
advice.switzerland@dixcart.com.